STOOGES: As we enter a new year, I should like to take a peek into the future.

Someday, in the not so distant future, television will replace radio. One thing that has bothered me, however, is the matter of audiences during the coming television era.

Will the spectators be retained to act as stooges to help high salaried comedians seem funny? It is a shame that audiences have thrown the once talented professional stooge out of work.

Well, Bill Shakespeare was right when he said: "All the world's a stooge."

SHORT STORY: King Football has made his grand exit—we'll be seeing him in September.

TODAY'S EPIGRAM: Good manners, like charity, should begin at home.

INTERNATIONAL CAVALCADES TO MEET IN FIESTA

Caravans Of Representatives From Canada and Mexico To Celebrate Golden Gate Bridge Opening In May

Mobilization of two international cavalcades—one from Mexico and the other from Canada—to participate in the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta upon the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge here next May was projected this week by the general chairman, in approving plans advanced by the Redwood Empire Association.

A chairman of celebrations has been appointed as head of a committee to arrange for the cavalcades

OPENING DAY CONGRESS SPURS EMBARGO ON ARMS SHIPMENTS TO SPANISH CIVIL WAR ZONE

Financial Problems Beset New Assemblage Led By Democratic Majority

Combining traditional ceremonies with the easy informality of a family reunion, Congress opened, Tuesday of this week, and prepared to tackle its first task of 1937—legislation slapping a swift embargo on arms shipments for civil war in Spain.

Administration leaders of both houses introduced immediately a resolution, had it referred at once to waiting committees and pushed it through with all possible speed to cut off a $2,390,000 cargo of airplanes intended for the Madrid loyalists.

Robert Cuse, Jersey City exporter, was racing to load the airplanes aboard a steamer at New York before Congress can act, State Department officials said. They also disclosed that a second munitions dealer, Richard L. Dineley of San Francisco, was planning to ship $4,507,000 worth of planes, rifles, machine guns and ammunitions to the loyalists.

Both Cuse and Dineley have obtained export licenses from the State Department, which though opposed

Brisbane Social Club Holds Party

Six tables of whist played at the regular meeting and card party of the Brisbane Social Club held Wednesday evening of this week. Prizes went to Jiggs, Ken Holaday, Jack Kinney, Stella Smith and Zeno Davis.

Gordon Minnick celebrated a birthday at the meeting. A cake, baked by Mrs. Clara Lamont, was presented to the honored guest.

Mrs. G. Minnick and Miss Dewhirst, hostesses, served doughnuts, cake and coffee for refreshments.

After dancing for a time at the social hall several members went down to Tiny's tavern for continued festivities.

NEW COUNTY SUPERVISORS TAKE OFFICE

Officers Installed By Bayshore League

Annual installation of officers of the Bayshore Voters League and New Year dance, held in Bayshore New Year eve, proved to be one of the most successful functions of the season.

Formal installation of League officers for the ensuing year was made by W. M. Varley, president of the Southern Civic Clubs, who has been honorary installing officer since the inception of this successful organization.

Officers for 1937 are: John Patrick Lawson, president; Matthew S. Parker, vice president; James Cash, secretary; Henry Weinberg, assistant secretary; Harry Wright, treasurer; Maurice N. Swin, attorney, and Frederick B. Williams, sergeant at arms.

After the formality of the installation ceremony members and their friends enjoyed dancing and New Year cheer till the early hours of the first day of 1937.

OLD BOARD OF SUPERVISORS IN FINAL SESSION

Clear Away Routine Business And Say Adieus In Giving Way To Newly Elected Officials

The last meeting of the old San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, held Monday morning of this week, disposed of an agenda of routine business and then adjourned sine die.

For the past two years the board has functioned successfully with these members: Al J. Witt, Daly City; Walter High, Burlingame; Fred E. Beer, San Mateo; John W. Poole, Redwood City and Mandel Francis (chairman), Half Moon Bay.

Retiring members of the board extended greetings and wishes for

'36 County Building Nears $2,000,000

Building permit total for 1936 in San Mateo County totaled $1,872,447.75, distributed through the months as follows:

January	$ 70,845.00
February	76,100.00
March	118,335.00
April	159,545.00
May	112,149.00
June	260,264.00
July	172,275.00
August	171,275.00
September	169,535.00
October	201,819.75
November	236,894.00
December	123,569.00

The revised and completed report made by the county building inspector shows that total number of permits issued by him during the year just passed was 379, and that of these 268 were for the erection of residence buildings.

January of last year held a low place in construction totals, but it is expected some heavy operations, particularly in apartment house building, will raise the figure for this month high above normal.

Building Progresses On Dick's Tower

Construction work is moving along rapidly on a new Brisbane tavern, Dick's Tower. Dick Anglesay, proprietor, plans to hold a grand opening for his inn on February 13.

The structure measures 64x55 feet and is located near the bridge on Visitation avenue. Redwood siding is being used on three exterior sides. The front will be finished modernistically with stucco.

Plans call for a cocktail lounge and a large maple dance floor.

F. R. Kelsey contracted the construction job, and Brisbane residents are employed as laborers.

SOUTH S. F. FIRE

Starting in a box of dried mushrooms, flames swept through the kitchen and living room of the home of J. DiBasilio, 242 Ninth lane, Saturday of last week, causing damages estimated at $800.

Robbery At Tourist Cafe In Brisbane

Entering by breaking in the front door robbers stole merchandise valued in advance of $100 from the Tourist Cafe in Brisbane, Tuesday night of this week.

The proprietors, Charley and Joe Mozzetti, checked their inventory and found two radios, several bottles of liquor, cigars, tobacco and other items missing.

Investigation of the robbery was made by the office of the sheriff, but no clues as to the identity of the culprits could be found.

Within Hour Police Find Stolen Car

It took San Bruno police just one hour, Monday of this week, to recover a car reported stolen from Jack Danford of Lomita Park.

Danford called headquarters at 8:30 a. m. and stated that his light coupe was missing. At 9:30 officers found the machine abandoned on El

TO WALK OVER GOLDEN GATE IS CLOSE CLIMAX

Appeal Of History Is To Be Realized On Pedestrian Day Planned For Bridge Opening

Since white men first saw the strait which connects our bay with the ocean, it has appealed to their imagination, and General Fremont made that appeal articulate when he named it the Golden Gate—one of the splendid geographical names of the world. Next May the lintel over the Golden Gate will be completed, the bridge opened to traffic with a great festival.

Supervisor Arthur M. Brown, Jr., has suggested that before the bridge is opened to automobiles, pedestrians be given the opportunity to walk its length, to study the greatest suspension span at close range and leisure, to view the Golden Gate from above.

Seagulls have few privileges enjoyed by man, but one of them has been to look at the entrance to the bay from the air. A "Pedestrian Day" for the Golden Gate bridge would give the public the privilege of a bird.

State Legislature Again In Session

The state Legislature opened its fifty-second session, Monday of this week, at Sacramento, to face a state deficit of $40,000,000, a general fund budget of over 431,000,000, and hundreds of bills, many of which will result in hot political disputes.

With Democrats in control of the Assembly by a margin of 47 to 33 and Republicans holding the Senate with 15 of the 25 seats, legislative observers predicted the session would be a battlefield for domination by the two political parties.

ORGANIZE NEW COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Considerable Talk Of Harmony Indulged In After Sending Word To County Executive He Will Not Be Re-Employed

The newly elected members, together with two holdover members, met, Monday of this week at noon, and organized the new San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

H. H. Smith, Daly City, was unanimously elected as chairman. With him were seated Fred E. Beer, San Mateo; John W. Poole, Redwood City; James J. James, Burlingame, and Alvin S. Hatch, Half Moon Bay.

The Redwood City Tribune was, by resolution unanimously adopted, designated as the official newspaper for the ensuing year.

The first act of the new board was the adoption of a resolution notifying Walter T. Kellogg, county executive, that he would not be considered by the board for reappointment after expiration of his term in May.

All members of the body, on being called on by the chairman, delivered themselves of an oration on harmonious relations between members and with all other county officials.

'Blaze of Glory'

Miriam Gerstie

Five years ago she was a San Francisco art student. Recently Miriam Gerstie had been named to design the color scheme that will transform the streets of London into a blaze of pageantry for the coronation of King George VI. Miss Gerstie, whose married name is Mrs. G. Grey Wornum, will select the colors to be used in the ceremony. Her husband is a prominent British architect.

Ball To Be Held At Tanforan Club

Plans for a countywide birthday ball to honor President Roosevelt are now under way. The affair is scheduled to be held at Tanforan Club House on January 30.

Seventy per cent of the proceeds will stay in the county and be turned over to the Board of Supervisors for distribution in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Joseph V. Gaffey of Burlingame, recently appointed general chairman by Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, heads the birthday party sponsors. He announced that mayors of peninsula cities will be named as sub-chairman to rally support of all county residents.

Death at the Wheel

ARTICLE 5

Quote from the Sun-Tribune for December 26:

"A driver in Moscow, Russia, recently took too many drinks of vodka and drove his truck through a safety zone in front of the American Embassy, killed two pedestrians and injured eight others. A few days later the government announced he had been executed."

Recently I have been scanning the daily newspapers for an outright instance of drunken driving. But it would seem that the sheets are going sissy because reports imply drunken driving, but never flatly stating such a condition.

So from far Russia, today's lesson in safe driving must be taken.

To many people the driver's execution in the case sighted above would seem unduly cruel. Nevertheless, it must be remembered that the driver was drunk, and while intoxicated killed two persons.

When we come right down to facts, a truck can be a more deadly weapon than a knife or pistol. The drunken Russian driver killed two fellow beings. His judges decreed the supreme penalty. The penalty, in my estimation, was justified.

Are we so civilized that we can kill a person while intoxicated and receive a minimum penalty?

Mechanized America does not give sufficient thought to the fatalities resulting from drunken driving. Drinking and driving do not mix well for public safety.

Resort Keeper Kills Employee After Quarrel Over Red Haired Lady Friend

Sottimo Angelini, 39, Daly City resident, was shot and killed New Year eve following a quarrel in a Fillmore street tavern.

Sought for murder, Joe Rosellini, owner of the inn, at 3231 Fillmore street, surrendered to San Francisco police at the North End Station, Tuesday of this week.

Still missing was Angelini's unidentified red haired woman companion, over whose attentions the fatal quarrel was believed to have started.

She had been seen frequently with Angelini, but her identity could not be fixed by persons who knew the two men. However, rumor has it that she attended funeral services held for deceased at the mortuary chapel of W. C. Lasswell & Co., Monday morning of this week.

FRIENDS FOR YEARS

The victim and Rosellini had been friends for many years. At intervals Angelini had tended bar for the tavern proprietor.

The quarrel that led to the tragedy was a brief, violent flareup, police were told by Joseph Alman, 672 Minna street, a waiter in the place. He was the only one present when the shooting occurred.

He said Angelini left the girl at the inn, talking to Rosellini, but came

Wimmer Injured In Street Car

Bill Wimmer, 212 Klamath street, Brisbane, was injured in a street car accident, Tuesday morning of this week.

Wimmer, a Market Street Railway motorman, was making his first morning run with car No. 22. At Shotwell and 16th street, Wimmer declared, a large transport truck shot out from a blind corner directly in front of the street car. The crash that followed caved in the front of the trolley and did major damage to the auto.

Wimmer suffered a broken right fore arm. He will not be able to return to work for more than a month.

P. T. A. LUNCHEON

Brisbane P. T. A. will serve a luncheon at the school house, Tuesday of next week at 12, noon.

Whist will be played following the luncheon. All members and friends are invited to attend the affair.

Home Heating Hints

By John Barclay
Heating Expert

Getting Fire to Burn Briskly to Produce Quick Heat on Cold Mornings

WHAT a joy and comfort it is to get your home heated quickly on cold mornings! And how easily it can be done! Shake the grates gently. When a red glow appears in the ashpit, stop shaking. Next, open the ashpit damper and close the check damper until the fire burns briskly. Should fresh fuel be necessary, feed it on the fire in a thin layer. Give it time to burn well and heat the house, then add a full charge of coal. When the gases have burned off, reset the dampers for normal burning.

This same rule applies should the fire get very low and almost burn itself out at any time. Be careful not to smother it with too much coal. Open the ashpit damper and close the check damper. When the fire again is burning brightly, shake the grates gently until the first red glow appears in the ashpit, add a full charge of fuel, allow the gases to burn off, reverse the dampers—close the ashpit damper and open the check damper. That's the way to save fuel and cut down trips to the cellar.

Gild Their Teeth

The ladies in old Japan and also today, to some extent, gild their teeth, and those of the Indies paint them red. In Greenland the women color their faces with blue and yellow. However fresh the complexion of the Muscovite may be, she would think herself ugly if she was not plastered over with paint. The Chinese used to have their feet as diminutive as those of the she goats. In ancient Persia an aquiline nose was often thought worthy of the crown. — Chicago Tribune.

If You're Told to "Alkalize"

Try This Remarkable "Phillips" Way
Thousands are Adopting

On every side today people are being urged to alkalize their stomach. And thus ease symptoms of "acid indigestion," nausea and stomach upsets.

To gain quick alkalization, just do this: Take two teaspoons of PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA 30 minutes after eating. OR—take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, which have the same antacid effect.

Relief comes almost at once—usually in a few minutes. Nausea, "gas"—fullness after eating and "acid indigestion" pains leave. You feel like a new person.

Try this way. You'll be surprised at results. Get either the liquid "Phillips" or the remarkable, new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Delightful to take and easy to carry with you. Only 25¢ a box at all drug stores.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes, feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

Remember When Sloan Got $40,000 Without Ridin' Nag

DO YOU remember 'way back when—

A jockey received $40,000 because of a race in which he did not ride, own, officially train, or bet on the winner?

That was in 1902 when the French filly, Rose di Mai, won the Prix de Diane at Chantilly. Tod Sloan, perhaps the greatest jockey of all time, had been barred for two years by the English Jockey club because he had committed the heinous offense of betting on his own mounts. So he had come to Paris and it was charged that he had worked the filly in trials for the stake.

This annoyed the French Jockey club, which then had a tight working agreement with the British lords of the turf. The stewards contended that Tod had been refused a jockey's license and consequently was not in good standing. So, as punishment for his reported appearance as an exercise boy, they expelled him from the French turf.

Tod sued and the case excited comment over all the racing world while it dragged on into the highest court of appeals. Finally when the high-stepping jockey, who had arrived in Europe several years previously with a $250,000 bankroll, was down to his last pound the verdict arrived.

It created a legal precedent for the turf but probably Tod never concerned himself about that. Starting with the $40,000 received in damages he soon was happily engaged in winning (and losing) a new fortune almost as large as the one he previously had accumulated.

A group of American Olympic athletes were forced to replace their drinking water with light wines? That was when the U. S. team was on the way to Athens for the 1906 games. A stop was made at an Italian port and customs inspectors noted the huge jars of mineral water.

Such a new-fangled aid to the well-conditioned athletes was beyond the comprehension of the inspectors. Visitors always were trying to work new smuggling tricks on them and they thought they knew gin when they saw it. So they confiscated this contraband "gin."

But even though they were weak on Yankee notions, the Italians were as strong on international galantry as they were on red tape. Even now there are members of that team who smack their lips as they recall the gallons of vino which replaced, at the inspectors' expense, each drop of "gin" water.

Bill Tilden turned down a $60,000 offer to turn pro?

That wasn't so terribly long ago at that—a matter of about a dozen years. But since the lion of the tennis courts did make the switch he has harvested a crop of dollars that is not to be sneezed at. And his example has been followed by other lights of the racket game from Vinnie Richards down to Fred Perry.

The odds, though, are that Tilden's earnings are a good deal ahead of any of his fellow tennis pros.

A player, dusting himself off at third base, received the greatest surprise ever to come the way of a hitter of a game-winning triple? That was years ago when Moose McCormick had been with the giants only a few days. He had been told to bunt but a ball came across the plate to his liking and he swung with full force.

He was met at third base by a red-faced, highly excited little fellow. A season or two later Moose came to bat as a pinch-hitter six times in a six-game series while winning five of the games and tying the other with his hits. But such fame was in the future.

He slapped the dust from his clothes with one hand while he extended the other for the expected congratulations. Then he listened in awe. The red-faced little fellow was not in a congratulatory mood. Instead Manager John J. McGraw was fuming Moose $50 for disobeying the order to bunt.

Bob Fitzsimmons was preparing to win the heavyweight championship of the world from Jim Corbett at Carson City? A visitor one day discovered Ruby Robert standing just outside the Fitzsimmons bedroom door listening intently. Inside the room Mrs. Fitzsimmons could be heard lifting her voice in prayer for victory.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

BIG-TIME baseball men who for years have conducted their business with scant regard for the rights of customers probably will behave for a while now. The reason is they have been tipped off that continued mismanagement will result in a governmental bureau taking charge of the national game—in order to preserve it from the fate of the buffalo. . . . The thirteen-year-old national diving queen, Marjorie Gestring, is an accomplished pianist. . . . Contrary to reports, there is a stone on Tex Rickard's lot at Woodlawn. There is, however, no marker on the great fight promoter's grave and no provision for upkeep.

That pass interference rule will not be changed in spite of the clamor of the losers and the sillier reporters. So far only one sane remedy has been proposed although dozens were discussed and laughed down during a meeting of the Eastern Association of Football Officials. This was Bill Crowley's suggestion that only one pass should be permitted during each series of downs in the last five minutes of each half. It would minimize one of the two real causes of the trouble, the number of desperate heaves that are made when scant scoring time remains. . . . Big league clubs would do well to consider Smokey Joe Martin, sent to Baltimore by the Giants last summer. Since receiving a chance to play regularly Martin has become the best third baseman in the minors. . . . Bill Powers, secretary of the New York Hockey Writers association and one of the game's best informed reporters, was born in Florida.

Giants to Put McPhail in Charge of Farms

The Giants are planning to put Larry McPhail—who provided the Reds with night baseball and other circus features before departing suddenly from Cincinnati in charge of their new farm system. . . . Lee Handley, the young infielder the Dodgers tried so hard to get, has a weak arm. . . . The strident objections of one of the powers about the throne prevents the Dodgers from making a deal for Joe Stripp. . . . If Eddie Mayo, recently transferred to Boston by the Giants, can hit .260 next season the Bees believe they are first division bound. . . . Mayo, by the way, should hit 20 points better than that when played regularly. . . . The slump which caused Heinie Manush to fall into possession of the Dodgers was due not so much to failing eyes as a persistently ailing charleyhorse. . . . The forwards for Pittsburgh in the Eastern Amateur Hockey league are Crossley Sherwood and Colin Sherwood. They are twins.

Lawrenceville coaches speak with awe concerning the end play of fifteen-year-old Puffy Bigler, son of Princeton's very good 1919 tackle. He is six feet one inch tall and weighs 175 pounds. . . . Tony Justice, Gonzaga's 195-pound end, is another player who will bear watching in 1937. Big Brother Eddie, of the Boston Redskins, claims the kid is due to be one of the nation's best. . . . Aside from the fact side-armers always did worry him there was another reason why Wally Berger had hitting trouble last year. Pitchers found they could keep the big Bees' outfielder under control if they threw at him. . . . Ralph Guldahl, leading pro golf money winner, is not superstitious about it but his two Pekinese dogs are named "In" and "Out."

Ted Kid Lewis has found a use for yesterday's newspaper. He uses it for wallpaper in his London cafe. Lewis's son, Morton, is one of the more eminent British movie camera men and soon will visit Hollywood to observe American film methods. . . . The Stadium club in London, where Georges Carpentier and Joe Beckett once drew $175,000, is no bigger than New York's St. Nicholas Palace. . . . Jimmy Walsh, the hard-hitting lightweight champion, is England's best fighter. . . . Benny Lynch, claimant to the world's flyweight title, is a crowd pleaser while Johnny King, bantamweight, is fast and clever.

Comment on the legalistic legerdemain by which baseball's high commissioner insured the extinction of all independent minor league owners and enabled the rich Cleveland club to retain the sensational Bob Feller—"The Supreme court follows the elections. Judge Landis follows his $50,000-a-year salary." . . . Art Chapman, probably the best playmaker in the National Hockey league, comes by his skating ability naturally, his mother having been one of the best figure skaters in the Winnipeg neighborhood. Incidentally he met his wife, who has won numerous trophies for speed skating, when the two of them were appointed instructors at a Winnipeg playground.

Walter Brown, the Bostonian who coached the United States Olympic hockey team, has discontinued his five-year-old practice of touring Europe with American amateur sextets each winter. Can't get any fun out of it any more. Feels that European "amateur" teams have so many Canadian ringers these days that it would take a pro outfit to beat any of them.

Radio and Foghorn Combine to Give Safety to Liners

New Equipment of the Lighthouse Service

WASHINGTON — Up and down the Atlantic coast, from Fowey Rocks light near the tip of Florida to West Quoddy Head light on the northernmost part of the Maine coast, oceanside inhabitants recently heard the mournful wail of foghorns going day and night, in clear weather and foggy, for about a week.

To the layman the foghorn's roar may have seemed like a useless waste of energy and a considerable annoyance, but from the experiment the United States lighthouse service here was able to report the performance of its new distance test equipment. Ocean liners can tell, with this new dual sound and radio equipment, their distance and direction from a given lighthouse or lightship even in the most pea-soup-like fog.

Fog Is Foiled.

The idea behind this aid to marine navigation is the fact that science has found a way to circumvent the often freak apparent directions of sound signals in fogs. In the old days a foghorn blast might appear to come from straight ahead when, in reality, the sound source was many points to the port or starboard.

With the new equipment a ship's master merely has to time the arrival of the foghorn's roar in his pilot house and he can quickly work out his distance from it within the length of his vessel.

Synchronized with the emission of the sound signal is a characteristic radio signal from the lighthouse or lightship. The latter arrives practically instantaneously, while the sound signal takes 5.5 seconds to travel a nautical mile. The captain, by radio, thus knows when the sound starts, and with his stopwatch can time its arrival. The system has an accuracy of 10 per cent at the worst, which sounds like a lot but is really only a tenth of a mile, or 528 feet. Most of the passenger liners on the ocean and many freighters exceed 600 feet in length.

Moreover, with his radio loop aerial, the navigator can tell his direction from the radio beacon and its synchronized sound source.

Lighthouse Revolution.

Radio, in fact, has produced a revolution in lighthouse keeping from the days when it was rightly called the world's loneliest occupation. More and more radio telephone communication is bringing the lighthouses that dot the nation's coast line into quick and close touch with the happenings in more ordinary walks of life. The communication services of the coast guard and navy are links in this chain.

Under the direction of I. L. Gill, signal engineer in charge, the radio beacon service has been worked out with ingenuity that at once brings increased safety to shipping and almost automatic equipment which makes it possible for non-technically trained personnel to maintain the stations.

In the same way the radio direction-finding equipment aboard ships at sea has been so designed that it can be operated by officers on the bridge without the services of a trained radio operator.

Maya Breadnut Urged for South Florida

WASHINGTON. — Breadnut trees, close botanical relatives to the famous breadfruit trees of the South Sea Islands, are suggested as desirable for cultivation in southern Florida, by Dr. O. F. Cook of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The trees recommended by Dr. Cook come from Yucatan, and were known and used by the Maya people who built America's highest native culture centuries before white men came. Southern Florida is climatically very similar to the breadnut's native land, and geologically it is almost identical, being underlain with a porous coral-limestone formation.

The Maya breadnut tree has a large, starchy seed which is gathered for food for human beings, and is relished also by live stock. Roasted or boiled, it tastes very much like the Spanish chestnut. Even more important, Dr. Cook suggests, may be the use of its leaves as pasture for cattle, which often have a hard time picking up a living off the thin grasses and other ground vegetation in Florida.

CALIFORNIA News of the Week

Prospector-Inventor Dies

Alturas.—William David Nance, 63, veteran California and Nevada prospector who claimed to have invented a machine for extracting gold from the sea, died here.

Commissioner Reappointed

Lakeport.—The temporary appointment of Sidney J. Stokes as Lake County's agricultural commissioner, was made by the board of supervisors recently. Stokes, who handed in his resignation several weeks ago, agreed to serve until his successor is named.

Returns Relief Aid

Sacramento.—"Happy Emerald," a Los Angeles woman, squared her conscience and enriched the State Treasury by $62. State Controller Ray L. Riley received this amount by mail with a letter thusly signed saying she had wrongfully accepted the sum as relief aid last year. A notation stated "Father Divine has taught us to be honest and pay our bills."

School for Violators

Visalia.—As part of a campaign to reduce accidents, a school for traffic law violators will open at the high school some time this month, according to City Manager Philippe. A safety council is to be organized among representatives of fraternal, civil, church and service groups. Ed Hayden, Visalia High School instructor, will direct the school.

To Test Nurses

Sacramento.—The State Personnel Board has called for civil service examinations January 30 for surgical nurses for vacancies in the State institutions. The examination is open to women between 21 and 45 years of age and separate eligible lists will be established for Northern and Southern California. The pay will be $105 monthly and maintenance. All applicants must possess a valid certificate of registration as a nurse in the State.

Bakersfield.—Kern County is the only Northern California county whose retail sales in 1935 were greater than in 1929, according to a government survey received here.

Kern showed an increase 72 per cent and was the only county in Southern California whose 1935 retail sales were higher than in the peak year of 1929, according to Walter Measday of Los Angeles, district manager of the Department of Commerce.

Couple Dies Within Hour

Turlock.—At almost exactly the same hour the life of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague, 61, was snuffed out near here recently, her husband, at their home in Cherokee, Iowa, died in his sleep of a heart attack, a funeral director revealed. Death, striking simultaneously at the elderly couple separated by half a continent, will reunite them in a double burial. The body of Mrs. Sprague was sent to Iowa.

Troops to Mass

San Francisco.—Maj.-Gen. George S. Simonds has announced that two major problems dealing with defense of the West Coast will face troops of the Ninth Corps Area and coast naval and marine units during 1937. The first exercise, he said, calls for a joint maneuver of land troops with the Navy and Marine Corps along the Southern California coast in February. The second calls for a concentration of all troops of the Regular Army of the Seventh and Ninth Corps area at strategic points along the coast some time next August. Complete plans for the maneuvers, he said, awaited adjustment of a Congressional appropriation which it is thought probably will be in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Sacramento.—Ben S. Warrick, an investigator for the auditing department of the State Controller's office, was fatally burned recently when a mattress upon which he was sleeping in a local hotel caught afire. Fire Chief Michael Murphy expressed the belief Warrick fell asleep while smoking in bed. He was badly burned on the lower part of his body. The fire was extinguished when the heat from the burning mattress set off an automatic sprinkling system in the ceiling of the room occupied by the victim on the fifth floor of the hotel. State Controller Riley said that while Warrick was attached to the Los Angeles division of the controller's office, he has been in Sacramento several weeks doing special investigating work.

Injured in Explosion

San Diego.—Three persons were injured, windows were blown out and downtown street cars were tied up for hours recently by four sewer gas explosions in quick succession in San Diego's main business section.

Conscience Hurt

San Diego.—William Harvey, 24, walked into the police station and confessed that he obtained $500 from a Washington, D. C., cafe eight months ago while acting as the cafe's cashier.

New Engine for Fighting Airplane Fires

Here is a photograph of the chemical fire engine that was tested at Le Bourget airdrome, near Paris, recently, to determine its efficacy in fighting fires of gasoline or oil. An old plane was set ablaze with a large reservoir of gasoline and the new device put it out in 30 seconds. The engine consists of a fast car fitted with a specially adapted hose which throws artificial snow and chemical froth on the fire.

WHERE THE RATS WERE.

IF BILLY MINK didn't know where the rats who had left the big barn had gone to, the farmer who owned the big barn and the henhouse and the woodpile knew. Yes, indeed, the farmer and his family knew just where those rats were. They were in the farmhouse!

You see, the wise gray old leader of the rats knew the safest place for them was in that farmhouse. In the first place it was big and that meant that there was plenty of room with ever and ever so many hiding places. There was food there, plenty of it, to be stolen. They could be very comfortable in that farmhouse. More than this, they would be safe from Billy Mink.

That gray old leader knew that Billy Mink would hesitate a long time about actually entering the house because of his fear of man. He didn't believe that Billy would dream of looking for them in that house, especially if he couldn't track them over there. This Billy couldn't do, as the wise old leader very well knew, because it had been snowing when the rats left the big barn and the falling snow had covered their tracks and destroyed the scent.

So, while Billy Mink was looking under the woodpile and in the henhouse for those rats they were making themselves very much at home in the farmhouse. They could climb about between the walls and go where they pleased. The first thing to do was to make homes for the babies. It didn't take some of those rats long to find the way to the attic. Now the attic was filled with trunks and boxes and papers and all sorts of odds and ends. It was just such a place as rats love. Right away the old mother rat began to tear up papers and make rags of clothing that hung in the attic. Rags and paper make the finest kind of nest for a rat. These nests they hid in dark places behind boxes and trunks.

And while they were busy with this, the father rats set out to search for food. It didn't take them long to find the pantry and gnaw holes through the wall into it. And they were not quiet about their work, either. The farmer and the farmer's wife knew what was going on. They could hear the scamper of little feet across the attic floor and faint squeaks between the walls. They could hear the gnawing.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the farm-

SEVERAL GOOD DISHES.

WHEN fresh coconuts are in the market, try using the grated nut freely in many dishes. A salad of fruit sprinkled with two or three tablespoonfuls of grated coconut is most attractive and appetizing.

Benares Salad.

Chop rather coarsely two cupfuls of tart apples, add two cupfuls of grated coconut, one-half cupful of celery finely cut, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, one tablespoonful each of chopped parsley and red pepper. Serve with french dressing. Sometime serve head lettuce with:

Blackstone Dressing.

Take four tablespoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing, the same of whipped cream, two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a tablespoonful of finely minced onion, adding at the last a tablespoonful of cream roquefort cheese.

Cassole.

This is a famous French dish which is both historical and appetizing. Soak overnight one quart of lima beans, in the morning bring to a boil, add salt, more water and cook until tender. Place in a cassole two cupfuls of cooked chicken or duck, add the beans, an onion, one-half cupful of strained tomato, one quart of chicken broth and a teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet. Bake one hour, uncover and sprinkle with a little minced parsley and serve.

Hot Potato Salad.

Boil half a dozen potatoes with the skins on. Peel and slice while hot. Fry thin slices of bacon and cut into small bits, using half a cupful.

THIS LAND OF OURS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

NO man is master in this land of ours, Since ev'ry citizen retains his pow'r's. The humblest is the highest, since the low Selects the high, and tells him thus and so. Who takes an office does not take a crown, Becomes the servant of the lower down, Hires out his services for certain pay, A hundred million others to obey. They are the government, he but the tool, The instrument by which the people rule. What is this capitol upon the hill? It is the workshop of the people's will. Then where dwells pow'r? Not under gilded domes— Beneath the roofs of twenty million homes. There reign what kings there are, who delegate To men less busy matters of the state.

And they, these public servants, rise and fall As they their limitations shall recall. Theirs not to order, wear a diadem, Theirs but to order as we order them. How he shall toil and where he shall abide Are matters for the freeman to decide. Not always right the humble man may be, But better to be wrong and still be free.

KNOW THYSELF

by Dr. George D. Groer

WHY DOES A PERSON CARRY A RABBIT'S FOOT TO BRING GOOD LUCK?

ALL magic of this sort, as practiced by civilized people, is indicative of certain mental trends. Dr. Ernest Groves, in his helpful book, "Understanding Yourself," says that any attempt at bringing luck by magic "is the consequence of the human recoil from unpleasant facts. It announces that the individual faces situations against which his whole being protests, something to which he finds it almost impossible to be reconciled. It is a confession that some obstacle to happiness or safety has arisen and the individual lacks the resources to cope with it." People do not resort to magic for luck when they feel themselves able to do a thing. It is insecurity and inferiority feelings that make people trust in charms and carry them.

A Trio for the Younger Set

THREE more intriguing numbers than these would be hard to imagine—even in this day of rampant fashion and scintillating style! It's a trio that the younger set in The Sewing Circle will be enthusiastic about too, for first consideration is given them in—

Pattern 1936—This excellently styled jumper dress is one the tot of six and the lass of fourteen will sing long and loud over. It is a guaranteed delight for both mother and daughter because it's the simplest thing to sew and the most intriguing frock a child ever had. The puff of the sleeves and the flare of the skirt place a pretty accent on youth. Available for sizes: 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/4 yards of 35 inch material for the jumper and 1 1/2 yards for the blouse.

Pattern 1202—There's subtle loveliness about this new dress for all occasions. It makes a grand thing of simplicity—a brilliant success of the new silhouette. Buttons, bold shiny ones, add classic chic to the back. And in the matter of sleeves there's an opportunity to choose for oneself. Sheer wool, challis, taffeta or silk crepe will be a likely material for this dress. Designed for sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 2 3/4 yards of 54 inch fabric. With long sleeves 2 1/2 yards.

Pattern 1936—This is the season for smocks, although not the 'hunting season,' thanks to today's new model, pictured here. This ideal smock obviates any further search, for indeed, in simple words it is the McCoy! Imagine the fun of having a smock that reflects one's own taste in its every detail—yes, even to the size and color of the scarf and buttons. Designed in sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 34 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. The bow requires 1 1/2 yards of ribbon. A detailed sewing chart accompanies each pattern to guide you every step of the way.

Send for the Barbara Bell Fall and Winter Pattern Book containing 100 well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send fifteen cents in coins for your copy.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 149 New Montgomery Ave., San Francisco, Calif. Price of patterns, 15 cents (in coins) each.

No Poverty in Bali

In Bali the people produce enough food in four months to last a whole year, leaving eight months to be devoted to leisure and the pursuit of happiness. The only vices known to the inhabitants of this earthly paradise are gaming and cockfighting. There is no poverty. People have so little use for money that they bury it—until necessity calls.—Chicago Tribune.

DON'T RUB YOUR EYES

Rubbing your eyes grinds invisible particles of dust and dirt right into the delicate tissues, making the irritation just that much worse. A much better way, as thousands have discovered, is to use a little Murine in each eye—night and morning. Murine may be depended on to relieve eye irritation because it is a reliable eye preparation containing 7 active ingredients of known value in caring for the eyes. In use for 40 years. Ask for Murine at your drug store.

SPARE TIME AND CHARACTER

Men in the Old World used to say society could not exist without the support of a leisure class. Nowadays people in Europe and America look upon leisure, not as the privilege of one class, but the birthright of every man and woman. Moreover, an automatic effect of the machine age in which we are now living has been to increase leisure. Happiness comes, not from work and rest, but from a proper balance of work, leisure, and rest; rightly understood, therefore, leisure is the time, not for rest but recreation, not for indolence but for free beneficial activity. It helps to keep the door of hope open, enabling us to take advantage of passing opportunity, to grow, and to progress.

Character, if we may believe biographers, is formed to a considerable extent in a man's hours of leisure. Whatever his daily job may be, rules and routine make him act in a certain approved way. What is demanded of him is teamwork.

It is only after a man punches "out" on the time-clock that he is somewhat free. He is now at liberty to do as he will. Note what he does when he has nothing to do and you can tell what kind of a man he is.

Everyone should order his daily life so as to have some leisure, for it is during such parts of the day that many important decisions are made. Then a man has time to think quietly and to do some of the things, like reading, that make for his mental growth. If work tends to get him into a rut, leisure lifts him out again. If work is not carrying him to a proper goal, it is often during leisure that he discovers the facts and directs his course anew.

Leisure, like wealth, comes to him who has skill in planning; it is seldom put to good uses if it is ill got. It will do the possessor most good who has earned it. To have it and not use it makes a miser. To misuse it makes a spendthrift. To use it well is the mark of a wise man.

Great men have a trait in common—they continually put forth efforts to increase their powers, thus growing year by year toward the fulfillment of their capacities. Training for them, is not a process that ends in youth; they carry on indefinitely by themselves. They are arrows. There are, on the other hand, numberless people who in youth lay something of a foundation, but subsequently rear on it no structure. They suffer from lethargy; lack the initiative to work constructively, to plan their lives well, and to carry out even what they have planned. They are driftwood.

A "self-perfecting vitality," as Carlyle calls it, prompted each to read and think and work incessantly. What lifts men to the highest levels of achievement and character is partly the discipline of work and partly the free activities of leisure.

ECONOMIC PLANS

Demands of members for huge new appropriations together with the ever present problem of relief and necessity of providing funds to carry out projects authorized last year at a cost of more than $1,000,000,000 imperiled economy plans of congressional leaders.

DOUBT SAVINGS

While President Roosevelt has made known he is driving for a balanced budget and there will be an "economy bloc" in Senate and House, leaders were frankly doubtful that huge sums can be saved in the seventy-fifth Congress.

Projects authorized in the last session, for which funds are expected to be appropriated in the new session, include:

Flood control projects totaling $659,000,000, to be spread over several years.

Two year federal road program at authorized cost of $476,000,000.

Rural electrification, $40,000,000 a year. Partly appropriated for at last session.

Vocational education and rehabilitation, $15,000,000, an increase.

FOR ALAMEDA BASE

Air base, Alameda, $15,000,000.
Frontier aviation bases, $100,000,000.

Increased army air strength, $50,000,000.
Blue Ridge parkway, $15,000,000.
Merchant marine, blanket authorization.

While the last session appropriated $10,800,000,000, this included more than $2,000,000,000 for the soldiers' bonus and other non-recurring expenditures totaling $400,000,000 more. The actual figure for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $7,673,000,000.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY

A comparison of the old and new Senate shows these totals:

New Congress—Democrats 76, Republicans 16, Farm-Labor 2, Progressive 1, Independent 1; total 96.

Old Congress—Democrats 69, Republicans 25, Farm-Labor 1, Progressive 1; total 96.

ONE VACANCY EXISTS

Lineup in the House is 332 Democrats, 89 Republicans, 5 Farm-Laborites and 8 Progressives. There was one vacancy because of the death in early December of Rep. Glover H. Cary (D, Ky.), chairman of the appropriations sub-committee for the navy.

Here are the standings compared with the seventy-fourth Congress.

New Congress—Democrats 332, Republicans 89, Progressives 8, Farm-Labor 5; total 434.

Old Congress—Democrats 322, Republicans 103, Progressives 7, Farm-Labor 3; total 435.

House leaders agreed to seat a New Hampshire Republican whose election had been in doubt.

Members, new and old, streamed into the capital during the last three weeks. Almost all will be present for the opening session.

WIFE OF SKINNER DIES

After a short illness Mrs. Maud Durbin Skinner, wife of Otis Skinner, actor, died, Friday of last week, at New York City. They were married in Denver, April 21, 1895, and Mrs. Skinner became leading lady in a company organized by her husband. She played many prominent roles.

back in a few minutes and started to beat her. He knocked the girl off a stool and kicked her out the door, Alaman said, then left with her.

MURDER THREAT

In a few minutes he came back alone and assertedly threatened to kill Rosellini. After heated words, Alaman said, Rosellini went to a rear room and came back with a gun. He shot four times as Angelini backed away and the victim fell halfway onto the sidewalk, his head inside the tavern.

Alaman said Rosellini put the smoking gun back of the bar and walked out. While waiting for the coroner's representative to remove the body, police had difficulty with a crowd of curious revelers who grouped around the entrance.

LIVED HERE SIX YEARS

Angelini had been a Daly City resident for six years. He made his home with a sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Domenichini, 1034 Hanover street. Domenichini owns the shoe repair establishment at 6194 Mission street.

San Mateo Jaysee Merge Near Climax

The San Mateo Junior College move to incorporate contiguous high school districts and become a county wide institution is near a climax.

Monday of next week, an open hearing concerning the proposal will be held before the Board of Supervisors. Reliable sources indicate that opposition will be resented in the form of petitions from Sequoia and South San Francisco High School districts. Jefferson and Half Moon Bay districts are in accord with the annexation.

Two Residents Die At San Bruno Homes

Two San Bruno residents passed away recently. Mrs. Mary Agnes Hayton Espinosa, 38, wife of Ernest Espinosa, department head at the Emporium in San Francisco, died, Monday morning, of this week, at her home, 467 San Anselmo avenue, after a brief illness. She had lived at that address for the past four years and was a native of Cartersville, Ill.

Funeral services were held, Monday morning of this week, for Willis Steels, retired, who died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Grace Palmer, 441 Euclid avenue, with whom he had been living for some time. Mass at St. Bruno's church was followed by interment in Holy Cross cemetery.

A native of Missouri, Steele leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Ethel Scott and Mrs. Agnes McBain, and a brother, Thomas Steele.

INTERNATIONAL CAVALCADES TO MEET IN FIESTA

Caravans Of Representatives
From Canada and Mexico
To Celebrate Golden Gate
Bridge Opening In May

and the dedication of the Waldo approach to the bridge in Marin County. This committee will consist of representatives from Canada, Mexico, Washington, Oregon and other States and from every county in California. The personnel of the committee will be announced later.

BRIDGE CLOSES GAP

The idea of the cavalcades fits in logically with the fiesta, because the Golden Gate Bridge closed the last major water barrier and offers a continuous system of highways between Canada and Mexico via San Francisco and the Redwood Empire along the northern coast of California.

En route each cavalcade will pick up delegates from various cities and counties. For example, the cavalcade originating in Canada will start out with invited dignitaries and public officials, the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in full regalia, native Indians in costume and dog teams from Alaska. This procession will pick up delegations mobilized in Washington and Oregon and northern California.

The cavalcade from Mexico would also start out with invited dignitaries, entertainers, singers and dancers in costume and will pick up other units from southern and central California en route.

POINT SAN PEDRO ROCKAWAY BEACH

"Rain, rain, go away; Come again some other day!" This was the popular sentiment at Point San Pedro, Rockaway and Vallimar during holiday week. For the torrents of water that came pouring down the roads hereabout, making muddy rivers, almost impassible to travel, the rivulets that coursed over the roofs and sought out every crack and cranny that was not snug and tight—all these results of the downpour put what one might term a damper on the Christmas and New Year festivities, and kept neighbors indoors, when they might have been paying friendly visits.

Outdoor trees, however, festooned with bright colored lights helped to make the scene less dismal. Their cheery glow will be missed when they disappear.

So many yuletide parties, that some of them may possibly be omitted in this summary. If so, then send in your news of such, for even though late, it will be of interest to readers. Clyde Garner gave a New Year party to a dozen guests, local and from San Francisco. Music and dancing, and a bountiful buffet supper, with a comedy skit by Pat Dempsey and later by Hermie Bryant, furnished the entertainment in an evening that proved delightful to each member. The Garner living room, panelled in knotty pine, and artistically lighted, with its wide fireplace, was a fine place for a party. The event was given in honor of Anne Bell of San Francisco.

Mrs. Grace Danmann celebrated New Year day with a dinner party to which twenty guests were invited, some from San Francisco, and others from Pedro. Mrs. Danmann is noted for her skill in cookery. The jolly party broke up at a late hour.

Irene and Harry Rees spent Christmas Day at the home of Dr. Barry in San Francisco. They report a charming time, at the dinner party, which lasted until the wee small hours. By the time New Year Day approached, the Reeses had had so many parties to attend, that as Harry enigmatically phrases it—they were "unexpectedly absent," and devoted the festive hours to resting and getting back to normalcy.

Margy and Art Remmer had a huge, fat turkey reposing in the frigidaire the day previous to New Year, and report states that a delightful dinner was served to a number of friends and neighbors, and the usual good time at parties given by Margy prevailed.

The William Beelers had a number of visitors on New Year day to greet them and to hope that the New Year may bring better health to the "head of the family," after the long continued cold he has had.

The George Olmos have returned after a two-week stay in the city and started mending the road in front of the Casa del Olmo which was damaged by the rains and a couple of hillside springs that flow down contiguous channels.

The Fred Bohrs were down over the week end following a strenuous week in the city. "Bozo" went wild with joy when the Bohr car turned into the familiar road, for the wire-hair has the best of times taking walks in the country with his master and friends, and he always goes sadly back to town.

Mrs. Bill Bailey and son, Ted, spent Christmas with her married daughter. Edgar made a quick trip by air to visit his father who is in Colorado regaining his health after a tedious illness.

Vallimar rejoiced to face the New Year with his houses unharmed by the disastrous fire of a few months ago. The story might have been a vastly different one, had it not been for the splendid work of the fire-fighters, which will never be forgotten in this region.

Shelter Cove surprised its guests on New Year eve. The Lewises put on several extra men, and at 9 p. m. the new building started its career in a sudden glitter of lights. Thanks to Mr. Tipcomb of Edgemar, who wired the house which, with the Christmas tree aglow with colored lights, presented a real holiday appearance.

After the lighting up a great party was on, a true house warming, with all the Shelter Cove people delighted with the fine new addition to the beach.

Bud Lewis played the accordion, and the spacious hall was soon crowded with dancers. So passed the closing hours of old 1936, and when midnight brought the New Year, 1937 was welcomed with hearty enthusiasm and, of course, a lot of good resolutions. It is said that two notable guests of the Shelter Cove parties were one "Tom" and his side-kick, "Jerry," who proved to be popular and in great demand.

Beside the Lewis celebration, all the Shelter Cove people kept open house until late. The next morning, the first day of the year, it was a different story, with nobody stirring until noon, when Shelter Cove folk raced boldly down the beach and took the first dip of the season.

This swim was much enjoyed by all the members of the Lewis family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steel, Peter Haugard and wife, Mrs. Nichols, Miss Michaelis, Mrs. Harrison, Messrs. Elry, Scott and Hudson.

The exhilarating dip in the surf created such tremendous appetites that all hands dashed home and had turkey galore and all the trimmings. It was a great day for everybody at Shelter Cove, with promise of still bigger and better things to follow in the new year ahead. Here's a wish for the best of good fortune to the fine building, and hearty congratulations to the Lewis family in their new residence.

Mrs. Nichols and Miss Michaelis of Shelter Cove entertained at a New Year party and over the week end. Guests were: Miss Nichols and Joseph Wilson, to whom she is report says, soon to be married; Mrs. Nichols spent Christmas at the home of her daughter in the Oakland hills.

Mrs. "Kimo" Harrison entertained her mother, Mrs. Croker, her daughter and a number of friends who came at Christmas and remained until after New Year day.

Jim Trogia's gift to his family for Christmas was a splendid Cadillac twelve-cylinder seven passenger car, with every ultra-modern gadget for comfort, appearance and convenience. You ought to hear that powerful engine start roaring!

"Wiener" Bryant last week presented Pedro with four fine puppies.

Attach License Plates Securely

Motorists are required by law to fix license plates securely on the car. Plates must be fastened so as to prevent swinging and at a distance of not less than sixteen inches from the ground. They must be in a position where they can be readily seen and must be kept clean and in condition to be easily readable.

P. T. A. Reviews 1936 Activities

In a covered and bound mimeographed booklet the Brisbane P. T. A. recently published an outline of its organization, past activities and 1937 goals.

The progressive 1936 program of the unit included serving hot lunches at school, furnishing clothing to needy children, Camp Fire Girls sponsorship, giving an Easter party, P. T. A. picnic, buying new chairs for the school auditorium, building a basketball court, planting shrubbery, on the school grounds, buying a large American flag for the auditorium and sponsoring a bundle day drive.

This program indicates that officers and committeemen of the unit have functioned efficiently. Many projects are planned for the coming year.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife; take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Real Tommy Atkins

To many people Kipling will always be associated with Tommy Atkins, whose laureate he was. That name also has a curious history.

The duke of Wellington, then a young officer on his first campaign, was riding along the ranks of his regiment after a battle, when a dying soldier struggled to his feet, saluted and gasped: "It's all right, sir; it's all in the day's work." That man was Private Thomas Atkins; and ever after Wellington quoted him as the standard of what the British soldier ought to be.

By a chance that rarely favors desperate measures, Denison sprawled from the final leap across the bridge gap into a fringe of sand and willows that overgrew the eastern bridge approach.

Threading the undergrowth on his trembling horse, Denison got away from the bridge as fast as he could; somebody was still throwing rifle slugs toward it; but once away from the danger point, he lost no time in making himself heard. Out on the old trail the steers, alarmed by the shooting, and worried secretly by the two Indians, were milling, and McCrossen, shouting and cursing, was trying to bring order out of the confusion.

Denison, from the willows, called loudly, "Who's driving these cattle?" "The man that owns 'em," shouted McCrossen, riding out into the open, fifty yards away. "Who the hell are you, hidin' in that brush? If you're a man, show yourself."

Denison pushed into the open. "You're driving this bunch, McCrossen?"

"I am. What do you want, Denison?" he demanded angrily.

"I want these steers, McCrossen. And I want you."

"These steers belong to me for wages, an' I've got twice as many back there yet. Now I've got just one word for you, Denison: Get out of my way an' keep out of my way."

"If you've got any rights in these cattle, turn 'em back to the Meadows and lay your claim for wages before the Stockmen's Claims Board," retorted Denison.

"What the hell's all this to you? Do you claim 'em?" demanded McCrossen savagely.

"I don't claim a hoof, but I want to talk with you, McCrossen, before you jump to the Panhandle."

"What about?"

"About who fired my ranch house and about Henry Sawdy."

"Tryin' to pick a quarrel with me, eh, Denison? Well, you needn't try very hard. I don't like you, Denison. I never did. I never had any use for you. Now will you pull off these bumps that are millin' my steers?"

"Will you head 'em back for the Meadows and talk to me?"

"No!"

"No!"

The two refusals were fast. But while the second was being uttered, Rebstock cried, "Crowd him, Dave!" and fired at Denison.

The next instant three horsemen were plunging at one another on rearing horses and throwing their shots at one another in a very uncertain light.

Retreat was out of the thinking.

Denison, caught between the two men, was forced to divide his fire. With a blow stinging his left arm, he jumped his horse past the two, whirled, and came back outside, with McCrossen shooting at him fast. The maneuver of Denison's put McCrossen into Rebstock's line of fire.

But hardly had Denison whirled when he felt a sickening blow in the stomach from McCrossen's gun, hardly ten yards away. He had been crouching on his horse's back and was already stirrup-loose. He slid off and rolled like a cat toward the brush.

Rebstock saw the trick but, forgetting that a wounded man is the most dangerous man, he yelled and spurred straight at him.

The horse refused the smell of blood. He shied. Rebstock spurred him. As the horse reared, the feeble light of the moon struck, for an instant, Rebstock's features. In that instant Denison fired point-blank at him.

The blow was terrible. Rebstock's arms jerked high, and his gun flew into the air. He sprang convulsively upward, toppled and, as his frightened horse whirled, lurched from the saddle to the ground. He never spoke again.

Fully expecting that McCrossen would ride in to finish him, Denison flipped open the loading gate of his gun instinctively, and punched out the empty shells.

His head in a whirl, expecting that any instant McCrossen would be on him, Denison tried to reload. Just as he got the cartridge into his revolver, he caught the sound of a horse's hoofs and then heard Bob Scott calling.

"Here, Bob," exclaimed Denison from the brush. "Look out for McCrossen."

Scott slipped off his horse. "McCrossen won't bother for a while. Are you hit, Bill?"

"I stopped a couple of slugs, somehow. What about McCrossen?" he asked irritably.

"He's lyin' over by the bridge. He wants to talk to you, Bill."

"Twist a tourniquet around this arm before I try it, Bob. Don't trust McCrossen. Have you got his guns? He'd like nothing better than another crack at me," muttered Denison, staggering with Scott's help, to his feet.

"McCrossen's stripped clean," declared Scott. "He's dyin'. That's the plain truth. Can't you make up your mind to see what he wants?"

"Go ahead. But give me my gun and watch out," muttered Denison.

In the light of the moon, McCrossen, propped up by a frying pan, reclined against the trunk of a half-grown tree. His eyes were closed.

"Here's Bill, Dave," Scott spoke low and gently. "You said you wanted to speak to him."

"Yes, Dave?" said Denison, haltingly.

"I'm done, Bill."

"Dave," exclaimed Denison, "I'm sorry it had to end this way."

"I talked pretty rough tonight," said McCrossen, brokenly, spitting the blood out of his throat.

"That's all right, Dave."

"Didn't really mean it all. You've always shot square, Bill. If some folks I've trained with had done that way, I mightn't be here tonight. Bill, a favor—"

"Go on, Dave."

"I've got an old-maid sister back East. She's all I've got. I'd hate her to know this come, rustlin', Bill."

"It'll never be said, Dave."

"Let it be a straight-out fight, Bill—you know."

"I know, Dave; I know. What's her address?"

"In my trunk, Bill," murmured McCrossen thickly. "Promise?"

"I promise."

"Give me—your hand."

Pardaloe was the first to reach Gunlock on the way home shortly before daylight. He rode in on his way to town to get hold of Dr. Carpy for Denison, whose condition worried him.

"I Know, Dave; I Know. What's Her Address?"

Fortunately the surgeon was already at Gunlock, whether he had been summoned to care for Sawdy.

With Sawdy's flesh wound already bandaged, Carpy sat in the living room, drinking a pot of coffee supplied by Jane.

He was enjoying in leisurely fashion his third or fourth cup of steaming stimulant when the sound of hoofs was heard. In a moment a resounding rap came at the door.

Jane started. In terrified appeal, she looked at the doctor. Carpy responded by calmly wiping his lips.

"Who's there?" he demanded curtly. "Bill Pardaloe!" came the response. Carpy flung the door open.

Jane ran out of the bedroom. "Oh, Mr. Pardaloe!" she cried. "Where is Bill? Where is he?"

"He's on his way back to the hospital."

"Is he hurt? Is he wounded? Tell me!" cried the frantic girl.

"Why, no, yes—that is, he was almin' to get back to the hospital before Doc found out he was gone," parried the veteran awkwardly.

Carpy intervened sternly: "Where is he now? Talk, Bill!"

"Ain't I talkin'? He's on the way here with Bob Scott."

"Then he's not hurt?" cried Jane.

"Why, no, yes—a little, maybe," stammered Pardaloe.

"Where you from?" demanded Carpy, still stern.

"Deep Creek."

"Was there a fight?"

"There was a little brush, Doc."

"Was Denison wounded?"

"Why—I guess he was pinked, Doc, yes."

"Where was he hit?" demanded Carpy.

"In the forearm, Doc. We got a tourniquet on that—he got another in the stomach."

Carpy felt the force of the disclosure. "Is he bleeding at the mouth?" he thundered.

"Why, no, Doc. But he claims he's all in."

"We'll bring him out, if that's all. Who was in the fight? Talk fast!"

"Dave McCrossen and Barney—with Bill."

"Where are McCrossen and Rebstock?"

"Right where they were when John Fryin Pan left me. He was on his way to the Reservation to hunt up a couple of bucks to bury 'em and bring in the cattle," said Pardaloe in matter-of-fact fashion.

"Sit down here, Bill. Jane," directed the doctor, "get the boy a pot of coffee."

"And boil plenty of clean water on the stove."

"Yes, doctor. Bill is going to stop here on the way in, isn't he, Mr. Pardaloe?" asked Jane, tremulously.

Pardaloe nodded. "Ought to show up after while. They're ridin' kind of slow."

Jane ran to the kitchen. She roused Quong to heat the water and came back with supplies.

"No," continued Pardaloe, deep in a saucer of hot coffee, "I didn't see it. I was over on the west side of the creek—it's bad crossin' there. I don't know how Bill came up. They never could-a got him across down there. We cut over the reservation and plugged for Gunlock." He pricked up his ears and interrupted himself. "Shucks! That sounds like somebody now!"

Jane listened eagerly. "I can't hear anyone," she said.

"You will in a minute. There they are again."

Jane ran for the door. "Hold on a minute, Missy," exclaimed Pardaloe. "Let's make sure you it is."

He opened the door himself, stepped quickly outside, and shut it behind him. Within a very few minutes, ages to Jane, she heard the stamping of horses. Pardaloe flung the door open and called for Carpy. Jane hurried out with him.

Drooping low, Denison, iron-willed, had stuck to the end of the grueling ride. Scott told how they had followed up the east bank of the creek—he himself on Rebstock's horse; how by great good fortune they had found a flask of whisky in Rebstock's saddle-bag, and that this had helped revive the wounded man when they halted to "spell" him; and how they had crossed Deep Creek at a reservation ford not far below Gunlock ranch.

Carpy and Pardaloe lifted Denison down from the horse. Jane supported his head and stooped to caress him and murmur low words. They laid him on her bed.

While Carpy tore open Denison's clothing and made a hasty examination, buckets of hot water were brought in.

The surgeon, with wearied back, presently straightened up. "Jane," he said solemnly, "you're a lucky girl. The bullet that meant death for your boy struck his belt buckle and tore around his side. Look here. This was all I was afraid of, this stomach wound. I didn't think so much about Bill, here. But, Jane, I didn't want you fixing for a funeral when you ought to be fixing for a wedding! We'll get him back to the hospital in a few days."

"Oh, no, Doctor," exclaimed Jane unsteadily, but with cold decision.

"Why, what do you mean, girl?"

"I mean he's at Gunlock to stay. He's never going to leave it!"

(THE END)

It's Harder to Lose Pounds Than It Is to Gain More of Them

Overweight Generally Has But One Cause and That Is Overeating.

"The slim, the irritable, the hungry woman takes on the proportion of one of our minor menaces," says Fannie Hurst in her amusing little book, "No Food With My Meals." Miss Hurst is writing frankly from her own experience in attempting successfully to lose pounds. She admits herself that although she undertook her reduction program under the direction of the doctor, she was not content with the comparatively slow results and cut still further the low calorie diet which the physician gave her.

It is one of the mysteries of life that it is much harder to lose added pounds than it is to gain them. The bathroom scales, which are now so general a part of equipment, enable us to keep a check on weight. It is not so easy for those extra pounds which creep upon us unaware as it was once upon a time. A few days of dieting in time will save the slender figure. Remember, however, that, in general, the addition of a few extra pounds with the years is an asset. They are usually needed to balance those lines which the years write.

Unless there is some glandular deficiency, overweight has but one cause, namely, overeating. The avoidance of more calories than are needed for use by the body for its own processes and for the activity of our lives may usually be a simple matter if there are no between meal sweets and no over-indulgence in bread, butter, other fats and rich desserts with meals. Not complete avoidance! It is only the second helpings that are usually responsible for undue weight gain. Looking out for that pound in time will actually save nine. Just one word of warning, however, don't advertise publicly your diet program.

Coffee Jelly.
2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
4 1/2 cups hot strong coffee
1/4 cup sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water, add fresh hot coffee and the sugar. Stir until dissolved and pour into molds to set.

Mineral Oil Mayonnaise.
1/2 teaspoon mustard 1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon salt 1 cup mineral oil
Cayenne 1 lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon sugar Vinegar

Mix dry ingredients and add yolk of egg. Mix well and add one-half teaspoon vinegar. Add mineral oil gradually, drop by drop at first, then more quickly, beating with egg beater. Bunyan Created Lakes

Elk and Torch lakes, the beautiful finger lakes that stretch parallel for miles along the shore of Lake Michigan near Elk Rapids, date back to the days of Paul Bunyan, according to the old lumberjacks.

Lake Michigan, they say, was scooped out by the mighty Paul, to be used as a log pond. Instead of skidding the logs into a stream and floating them down to his pond Paul would hitch onto a section of land and drag it over to the lake, log off the timber, and then haul the section back.

One day Paul hooked onto a particularly heavy timbered section near the Boardman and started Babe, the blue ox, out to haul it over to the lake. There had been a heavy rain, the ground was greasy, and Babe's feet slipped.

Torch and Elk lakes remain, an eternal testimonial to the blue ox and the time his feet slipped.—Detroit Free Press.

Here's Simple Way to Ease a Cold

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving
Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is a quick, effective means of combating a cold. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name at your druggist's—not for "aspirin" alone.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three BAYER tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever and the pains which usually accompany colds. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

BRISBANE LOCAL NEWS

By ROY EDWARDS

Brisbane firemen are a courteous and willing group of fellows. They render first aid when and where necessary sometimes even endangering their own safety. Yet they suggest that anyone can revive a person who has "over celebrated" by dashing a bucket of water in his face.

Engaged: Ruie Coffin, daughter of Ann Coffin and Pete Sarey of Burlingame.

Unconfirmed engagement: Bernice Lummas and Woodrow Dotherow. Only a rumor, but things like that often come about.

Jack DeLay and family were weekend visitors with Ollie Wilson and his mother.

DeLay is a member of the We Fell Off The Bridge Club, an exclusive Golden Gate Span organization, the only membership requirement being a spill off the giant structure.

"A life net swung under the bridge makes workers a bit less careful," says DeLay, "one fellow, fell off several times."

Had there been no net the Brisbane visitor would have fallen 250 feet to certain death. Saved by the safety device he thanked engineers for installing the net and lessening the hazards confronting steel workers.

January brings forth a new year of undertakings. In the words of Ben Franklin let us "Resolve to do what we ought, and perform without fail what we resolve."

January birthdays: Tom Wilson, 3; Helen Dunn, 5; Ernestine Minnick, 11; Ollie Johnson; Babe Lothrop; Harold Gatto, 19; Pete Sarey, 22; Mrs. D. M. Edwards, 26.

Happy birthdays to you all.

Paul Pergeaux is now in the Letterman General Hospital. A severe case of stomach ulcers undermined his health.

Louis Terry is ill with influenza. Undoubtedly capable nursing by Doc Matson, rest in bed, plenty of fresh air and wholesome food will help to maintain a barrier against complications and bring about a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Helen Johns and Mrs. Vera Blair were ill with the flu early this week. Their condition is now reported improved.

Joe Develin, Alvarado street, was taken by ambulance to the Franklin Hospital, Wednesday of this week. Attendants state his condition is satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamont entertained as holiday guests Mrs. Frances Talkin and son and daughter, Kenneth and Ruth, from Chico.

Mrs. Mary C. Davidson is visiting with Mrs. E. Holladay. The guest plans to spend several weeks in the bay area.

Mrs. Pearl Harper has left Brisbane and rented her Mariposa street house.

On several occasions questions have been asked concerning penalties for certain misdemeanors and felonies. Answers to such questions will gladly be given in this column.

To A. P., your question of: "The penalty of refusing to aid an officer in arrest."

Answer. Every male person above the age of 18 years who neglects or refuses to join the posse comitatus or power of the county, neglecting or refusing to aid and assist in taking or arresting any person against whom there may be issued any process, or by neglecting or refusing to aid in retaking any person who, after being arrested or confined, may have escaped from such arrest or imprisonment, or by neglecting or refusing to aid and assist in preventing any breach of the peace, or the commission of any criminal offense, being thereto lawfully required by any sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, officer concerned in the administration of justice, is punishable by fine of not less than 50 nor more than 1000 dollars.

State Aids Road Building On Coast

For the new link in the coast road in San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties, funds amounting to $180,000 are provided in the California biennial highway budget totaling $73,700,000 for the 1937-39 biennium, it was announced this week by the state commission.

The new section of the coast road will be eight miles in length and calls for grading, surfacing and construction of a bridge, according to press advices from Sacramento. The road will run from Davenport to the northern boundary of Santa Cruz County.

The entire new project will be located in Santa Cruz, but the highway will be part of the new coast road, being constructed in sections as additional funds are forthcoming.

ence also delivered short talks, wishing the new board a successful and harmonious tenure in office.

The resolution of intention not to reappoint Kellogg as executive, prepared by the district attorney's office for the new board, was offered by Supervisor James, who moved its adoption. The vote was unanimous.

The board's notice was to be served on Kellogg by County Clerk E. B. Hinman the same afternoon.

No formal applications for the $6000-a-year post have been made. Several prominent names have been mentioned as probable candidates. They are former Assemblyman Fred Peterson, former City Manager E. A. Rolison, of Redwood City, City Manager P. Wilsey of San Mateo, and City Manager Hollis Thompson of Berkeley.

Gilbert Keitle, head of the Peninsula Chambers of Commerce rapid transit committee was authorized to contact the San Francisco supervisors and make a date for a meeting of the two boards either Thursday or Friday. Keitle, a San Matean, appeared to call attention of the board to the fact that the Bay City supervisors are about to make a decision on rapid transit, and that it is all-important that a peninsula link be included in any rapid transit solution.

WEDNESDAY MEETING

Continuing to vote unanimously on all matters before them, the newly seated county board of supervisors appointed Alvin Hatch and James S. James commissioners of joint highway districts in a 15-minute meeting Wednesday morning of this week and then adjourned for a conference that lasted until after noon.

Hatch was elected to the commission of district No. 9, succeeding the former board chairman, Manuel Francis, while James will replace Albert Witt Jr. of Colma on highway district No. 10. Hatch will attend a meeting of his commission today at 3 p. m. in San Francisco.

Press Association Seats New Officers

New officers of the San Mateo County Press Association were seated, Monday evening of this week, at a dinner meeting held at Pete and Mary's Inn, south of Redwood City, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Harris of the Menlo Park Recorder.

Sam Winklebeck of the Redwood City Tribune succeeded W. E. Pitschke of the Daly City Record as president of the association. Mrs. Anne Frahm Brubaker of the San Mateo Times became secretary as L. E. Harris retired from his former post.

3B Club Opens New Bridge Season

The 3B Club of Brisbane opened a new whist season, Monday afternoon of this week. Two tables played at the home of Mrs. Helen Johns.

Players were Mesdames Vera Blair, Ione Kinney, Juanita Lummas, Hall, Stella Smith, Gertrude Gagner, Emma Frederick and Helen John.

Monday afternoon of next week the meeting is scheduled at the home of Mrs. Juanita Lummas. At each party members give five cents to a general fund which is used in the fall of the year to sponsor a banquet.

Brisbane Library Shows 1936 Gain

Grand total of books circulated during the past year by the San Mateo County free branch library at the Brisbane Drug Store shows an increase of more than 250 over 1935 figures.

Borrowed fiction reached 5588, non fiction 1113 and juvenile 1569. Eighty new members were listed.

All Brisbane residents are invited to fill out cards, become members and avail themselves of the free county library service.

success to the new supervisors at the close of the morning business session, each delivering a short address.

Messrs. Beer and Poole held over as members of the new board, which organized at noon.

Francis "hoped his many friendships in the court house would continue to flourish," and stated:

"I wish my successors the best of luck, and I trust that my successor, Alvin Hatch, with whom I was born and raised in the Half Moon Bay district, and with whom I have had a life-long friendship, will make a good supervisor."

Witt expressed the hope that the new board will continue the fight for (1) completion of the coast road; (2) inclusion of the Peninsula link in San Francisco's initial rapid transit development, and (3) the county's just share of WPA and PWA funds. One of the major problems before the new administration, Witt declared, is the equalization of the county assessment rolls.

Supervisor High, declared that he hoped his successors would have "many pleasant sessions," and wished them success.

The retiring Burlingame supervisor jocularly remarked that several bouquets of flowers which reposed on his desk "are not for me, but for Supervisor-elect Smith." The large audience present gave the three retiring officials a thunderous round of applause at the conclusion of their remarks.

Two Highway Deaths Start 1937 Toll

Life was snuffed out of Mrs. Frances Austafson, 54, San Francisco, Saturday afternoon of last week, in a head on automobile accident on Bayshore highway in South San Francisco.

The accident occurred at Grand avenue and Bayshore. Mrs. Austafson was riding in a car operated by her husband, George Austafson, who incurred minor injuries. The victim died from head injuries a few minutes after she arrived at the South City Hospital.

GARDENER KILLED

Another traffic fatality occurred when an unidentified hit run motorist struck Frank R. Joseph, 53, gardener at Sisters of Mercy Convent, 2750 Adeline drive, Burlingame, New Year Day at 2:30 a. m.

MANGLED BODY FOUND

Driving north on El Camino Real, J. G. Roberts, San Francisco motorist, saw the horribly mangled body of Joseph lying in the road. He stopped his car in such manner as to protect the body from being run over by the few cars abroad in the slight rain.

An unidentified citizen telephoned Officer Al Marion and Sergeant J. J. Hartnett, who removed the body from the road and began an investigation that as yet has not resulted in apprehension of the hit run driver.

The car, assertedly the one which hit Joseph, was found abandoned in a driveway near Mills avenue. The automobile, blood spattered and with a broken headlight, and fender dents, was held by officers at an El Camino Real garage away from public view as officers pressed their probe.

tem of the state Senate on Monday.

William Moseley Jones, Los Angeles, Epic-Democrat, was elected speaker of the Assembly by virtually a unanimous vote. Practically all traces of organized opposition to Jones vanished during a heated caucus of Republican assemblymen over the week end.

Asserting the "welfare of the people should be placed above partisan politics," GOP members of the lower house agreed to refrain from entering a speakership candidate.

Lawmakers have commenced their tedious task of introducing bills while awaiting Governor Frank F. Merriam's budget presentation.
